QUALITY POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of Rutland Plastics Limited to supply injection moulded products and medical devices which may require sub assembly work to satisfy its customer's in terms of product quality and price. We therefore intend to consistently deliver the customer's requirements, to previously agreed specification and price.

In meeting the needs and expectations of its customers, which will be constantly reviewed, the company is fully committed to comply with the requirements of BS EN ISO 9001 : 2008 and BS EN ISO 13485 : 2012, and to achieving and reviewing the quality objectives set during the management review meetings.

Instructions and procedures detailed within Rutland Plastics Limited Quality Assurance Manual/Procedures, demonstrate the company's commitment to comply with requirements and to continually improve the effectiveness of the quality management system. Reviews of the effectiveness of the quality management system, along with the suitability of the quality objectives and policy shall be done during the management review meeting.

Rutland Plastics Limited further recognises that the responsibility for quality is not limited to those specifically designated to maintain that discipline. Quality objectives shall be communicated to all employees therefore ensuring that everyone fully appreciates the importance of quality and therefore undertake their individual duties accordingly.

Rutland Plastics Limited also recognizes the need for tailoring systems for specific contractual situations within the industrial sector in which it operates.
